Hey Steve,=0A =0AIt looks like the comments section about Scott's trial wen= t off yesterday. I have no idea who 'Edwin Stentin' is but I owe him a big= thank you. Do you mind passing that on to him from me? Do you think he i= s personally attached to the case? I can't figure out who he may be!! He = was able to articulate what I was thinking. The minute 'ed' started postin= g I was SURE he was a plant from the Davis side. This whole time I have be= en concerned that jurors would not be able to resist the urge to peak at th= e Internet for news on the trial. Your blog about Scott comes up very high= in the google search. That is why I have been leaving so many defending p= osts. If the jury was looking I wanted them to get another prospective. E= ey really were.=0A =0A I did notify the prosecuting attorneys on the case. =

They emailed back that they were aware of the blog comments, but there was = nothing they could do. They have to believe in the oath the jury took befo=

Yeah, he helps in that he states his 'case' so well. Wish more bloggers wrote as well as that guy does.

I've given him your e-mail address -- is that okay? Don't know that you'll hear from him. Let me know if you do.

I'm not exactly sure how many hits that post is getting, but I've got an idea of how to track them. I'm going to give it a shot and see what happens. I can check my raw server data, but that is unformatted, and a great challenge to my ADD.

Things here are rainy, and gross, but otherwise, we're fine :)

Hey Steve,=0A =0AI just left a long post about the Coffin case. I know I s= houldn't give so much information about the case away in a public forum, bu=

Is it painfully obvious from what I have written that I am the poster??? =

Although I haven't spoken to her about it, I am sure the 'Gigi' poster is = my Aunt from California, bless her biased heart.=0A =0AJust an update, I di= dn't end up meeting with 48 Hours in Atlanta since the DA didn't want me to = give any interviews until the case was over. I am talking to them right n= ow about sending a crew to Australia for the interview. I am scared about = talking to the press, but I do feel that David's story needs to be told. I= am sure the Davis family will have a twisted story to spin. The only twisted spin comes from Megan as you can read I am really t= orn about the whole thing.=0A=0AHow are things in your world?=0A=0ARegards,=

By way of introduction, would you mind forwarding what I forwarded you, and telling her who I am? I plan on calling her anyway, but then it wouldn't be out of the blue.

I have no idea what they're looking for. I've been racking my brains to see what could be worth a subpoena in my e-mail, and I cannot think of anything where this case is concerned. I had no inside info that had not been in the press before, that I can think of. The most communication you and I had at one time was actually by phone. During the trial I never had a hinky feeling about any e-mails or comments perhaps being from a juror or something -- but my "hinky feelings" aren't foolproof. I wonder if they're seeking some evidence of a problem with the jury. I've been fretting about it, obviously, as of all the cases I've covered as a crime blogger or as a paid journalist, this is the one I least expected to get something like this, since the closest thing I had to "inside info" was of more interest to the press than anyone legal. Shit, I think I only posted two blog entries. I have whole archives of blog entries for other stories.

Thanks for the recommendation about Sheila. Otherwise, what is up with me? Not much. I do have to call her tomorrow and also a cop in Pennsylvania, but that's starting to feel normal. And it gives me a mild coronary now and then, but only a mild one :)

Hello Again,

I just checked my home email and I have also received a subpoena. AHHHHHH! I want this case to be over and out of my life. I have forwarded my subpoena to Sheila Ross. I will let you know what she has to say about it.

Groan. . . .

Hello Steve,

I hope you are well. I have been conferring with my attorney and I have some information to share with you if you want it. I have also enclosed a copy of the subpoena in case you have not seen it yet. They are only allowed to request information in the past of the subpoena filing date. So all of our emails after that filing date are not open to their request. Let me know if you would like to discuss the matter further. I reviewed all my past emails and I feel I have not done anything wrong as a witness. I did not have contact with your blog or people posting on your blog until I was done testifying, excused by the judge and safely back in Australia with no chance of being recalled. I really believe the Davis attorneys are on a fishing expedition. If we fight this subpoena I do not believe that they the right to invade our privacy. That is a high legal bar and they must show just cause to request such privileged information.

Let me know what you want to do.

Regards,

Megan Bruton

Steve,

First of all, I wish you the best of luck with fighting your depression. I have had depressive periods in my life and I know how debilitating they can be. Drugs therapy has always worked for me, so I wish you the same success. Keep me posted.

Please do not meet with anyone associated with the Davis appeal. All they are trying to do is find out information that will lead to a successful appeal. They are paid to twist information to benefit their client. I only correspond with you because you assured me confidentiality. I did think of you as a member of the media and I hope our conversations can be treated as privileged. Although, I don't think any of our correspondence has any relevance to this case,

If you would like to talk about these things more in depth, let me know what number to ring you on.

Let me know how you would like to proceed.

Thanks!

Megan

Hello Steve,

Hmmm, very interesting. I received information from the DA's office that the first step in the appeals process has begun in earnest since the trial transcripts are now complete. I would contact Sheila Ross, the assistant DA that tried the case - her number is 404-730-4874. Sheila would be a good person to guide you. As a poster on your blog, I would certainly like my identity to be shielded if possible. I have no idea what the law states, but I would try to fight the subpoena if possible. I wonder if they are also interested in finding out if any jurors were involved? Keep me posted.

I am not sure if you are aware, but Court TV just aired the trial over the last week.

Now I am freaked out! I thought my defensive postings were normal - so I was very surprised by the back lash once I revealed my identity. (Although many of my posts were a collaborative effort since my parents were in town)

What is new in your life?

Talks soon,

Megan

Hello Again,

We have removed content here because her attitude is so nasty and untruthful

Scott's full name is Scott Winfield Davis. I have no idea if he has an on-line identity? He always

Just for interest sake, is BasilBeef and Kaia the same person? Also, who is Porter Osborne, he said he knew me in a different life.

Cheers,

Megan
